

Lubrication built on expertise

More manageable maintenance

From auditing to problem resolution and training, you can call on your SKF team any time to help you manage maintenance and increase performance in the energy sector. We deliver specialist tribology knowledge. Combining friction, wear and lubrication science, it can increase safety, extend equipment service life and reduce lubricant consumption as much as 50%. Whatever your needs, SKF has the services to deliver the performance.

Make the right lubrication choices. Get the right results.
For more information please go to skf.com/lubrication

